CRUISE COMPASS

DAY 3 Thursday, May 31, 2012

WELCOME TO PHUKET, SOUTHEAST ASIA'S DREAM DESTINATION.

Fashionable Phuket has long been luring tourists to its drop-dead-gorgeous beaches and dramatic bay scenery. Thailand's most famous island destination practically pioneered the whole industry in Southeast Asia. Once resorts started sprouting up along the coastline, Phuket seemingly developed overnight. Nowadays, this Andaman Sea beauty provides tourists with a nice contrast to bustling Bangkok, yet still has all the comforts you'd find in a cosmopolitan city.

Amid all the development, Phuket's natural wonders are still the main attraction. The beaches are where most folks go to relax, but there's plenty to do if you're up for an adventure. Go on a rainforest trek. Sail through the surreal landscape of limestone rock on Phang Nga Bay. Or hop on an elephant for an unforgettable ride. Haad Nai Yang National Park holds Phuket's largest coral reef, where giant leatherback turtles come to nest every year. Just a boat ride away is the island of Phi Phi. Its beach is "The Beach" from the famous film. And after a day in the sun, pamper yourself with a traditional Thai massage and experience first-hand this ancient art of healing.
